

CONTACT-REQUIRED COMMUNITY SUPERVISION FORECAST FAST FACTS:

Contact-required cases include adults who have been convicted of a crime, who are actively supervised by the Department of Corrections, and have requirements to maintain contact with the Department.

The DOC evaluates Contact-required community supervision offenders and classifies them into four Risk Management Levels: RM-A, RM-B, RM-C, and RM-D. RM-A (Risk Management A) offenders pose the highest risk to the community, while RM-D (Risk Management D) offenders pose the lowest risk.
